

Linedata Lending & Leasing our offer for syndicated lending

How to bring efficiency and new services to your clients, teams and financial partners?

Syndicated lending remains a strategic business for banks. As a banker, you need to manage increasingly complex deals with multiple counterparts and sophisticated transactions. In a competitive environment, you also need to strengthen your leadership with more business innovation and simplified digitized processes for your corporate clients.

Therefore, in a business as challenging as syndicated lending, you need the right IT partner to offer premium services to your customers, teams and partners. Linedata's syndicated lending solutions allow you to manage any type of transaction (multi-facility, currencies, products and more), accommodate complex syndications, enhance services through a client and partner-oriented portal and streamline processes with our set of standard APIs and workflows.

On the road to automation & digitization:

At each step of the syndicated loan lifecycle, you can enhance and streamline your processes to bring added value services to your lending team & clients.
